Pretty buggy right now, crashed on the first play attempt in the middle of a game. There is no back button in the menus so to get out of the MP section I had to restart the game. The grab and pull functionality to shoot is really buggy. This game looks way fun, but I think it needs more development before I will recommend it.. Not used much in multiplayer, but it's a pretty (and big!) map and is used in a whole bunch of "Red Flag" campaigns. Plus, you can roar down the strip at Mach 1, which is just cool.

What we need are some campaigns with all-out war taking place ... in Nevada. Yeah, I don't know why, either, just roll with it. The Wolverines defending Area 51 against enemies after the alien tech hidden away there or something. I don't know. Just something to get more use out of this map, because it's a very nice one and fun to fly around in.. 23 minutes in the game and it already makes me addictive to it. Turn based strategy is really nice, in game dialogues that looks like comics are pretty great. background music fits it. Graphics are really nice. Story line on walking through dark rooms and searching for antidotes, keys, etc creates some nice taste to zombie like game. everything gets even more interesting when you have to control more characters, so basically you have to think in each turn what to do. totally suggesting the game. Well done Maris for creating this game!. A nice Add-on to the game.. pretty good game
